CALL FOR PAPERS

The International Conference on Robotics in Education (RiE) brings together experts from academia, schools, and from industry to present new trends, practical experience, and the latest innovations and advances in educational activities. Suggested topics include, but are not limited to:

- Robotics in school
- Robotics curricula
- International trends in educational robotics
- Hardware and software of robotic kits
- Laboratory experiments for teaching robotics
- Teaching and training for robotics
- Project-based learning and robotics
- Didactic approaches and materials
- Exemplary robotics projects in classes
- Entertainment robotics
- Robotic competitions
- Evaluation and pilot studies
- Web-based robotics and simulation
- Evaluation and assessment of robotic-enhanced class activities

VENUE

The conference will take place at the Lodz University of Technology. Łódź is called the city of four cultures to remind the industrial heritage created by Polish, German, Jewish, and Russian inhabitants in XIX Century. Now Łódź is also known as a strong academic center.
